

LOCAL EVENTS IN TABLOID FORM

Mrs. Mary McDonald, George Dhoms and John Houseas cut and burned at fire at 322 S. Halsted. Mrs. McDonald's night-clothes caught fire, and she was tossed out a window to policeman in street by another roomer. County hospital. Police investigating fire origin.

Samuel Baker bought a horse, and then claimed he had been "stung." Judge Dolan ruled that in every horse trade there is an implied guaranty that the animal "can lie down and get up again." Baker got his money back.

William Larkin, II, 6522 Drexel ave., knocked down and his skull fractured by touring car traveling at high speed at 65th street and Cottage Grove ave. Auto did not stop. Police searching for driver.

Ex-Alderman Peter Reinberg of the 26th ward, one of Hearst-Harrison wheel horses, who fell outside he breasworks at aldermanic election, has been taken care of. Mayor has appointed on school board.

This newspaper talk about universal "L" road transfers in two weeks looks like the veriest bunk. If council does pass proposed ordinance, roads will make a court fight, and case will drag, as such cases usually do.

Young men with matrimonial ideas needn't figure on saving nickels that way to furnish the flat.

Charles Engle, 19, 3812 Rhodes ave., disappeared from home six days ago after being rebuked by his mother. Mrs. Engle is paralyzed, and doctors despair of saving her if the son does not come home.

Fifty people fled from Madison hotel, 825 W. Madison street, when fire broke out this morning. Damage $300.

Ten thousand Chicago hodcarriers granted increase in wages from 37 to 40 cents an hour. Agreement goes into effect May 1. Caisson diggers increased to 50 cents an hour.

William Riendon, 2 1-2, tossed ten feet by street car in front of his home, 1315 Sedgwick street. Taken to hospital. Bruised, but no bones broken.

Frank McGuire, Carl Bursche and Watler Burke, bridewell prisoners, scaled wall and leaped to street. Burke broke his leg, and was recaptured. McGuire and Bursche escaped. They were serving six months each for larceny.

Mrs. Belle Teller, wife of John Grand Teller, 9350 Loomis street, found bleeding on sidewalk at 23rd and Armour. Beaten on head with revolver. Assailant escaped. Mrs. Teller said she met man in Majestic theater, and went with him to levee district. He demanded her jewelry, and then beat her. Said she did not know man. Said they drove in cab until early in morning.

Policeman Graham and McCafferty of Desplaines street station bruised when they fell through porch at 204 S. Halsted, formerly occupied by Mike Few-
